NAVEEN ACHARYA ABHYAS VARGA

In the Banswara Pariyojana, a practice class was organized to orient the newly selected Acharyas in the new school session. This practice class is the foundation of that divine tradition, where the journey from discipleship to Acharyatva begins. This journey is full of self-realization, discipline and dedication.

Senior officials guided the newly selected Acharyas in the Acharya practice class. They said that the importance of school is not limited to gaining knowledge only, rather it is a medium to culture and discipline every aspect of life. Here a person studies the scriptures, but does not just memorize the words – he lives them, understands their essence, and tries to implement them in life. The practice class refines the inner self of a person, clarifies thoughts, and makes behavior Sattvik.

The purpose of this practice class is to prepare the newly selected Sadhaks as a sensitive, alert and strong guide. This class gives them the ability to establish a balance between the Vedic tradition, Indian culture and the needs of modern society. This practice not only builds their personality but also leads them towards establishing themselves as pillars of inspiration in society.

Every moment of the daily routine is filled with discipline and sadhana. Time-bound practice from morning to night not only disciplines the body but also stabilizes the mind and focuses the intellect. The process of remembrance, contemplation and reflection helps in assimilating the scriptures. The proximity of the Gurus makes this path even more dignified because they not only make us recite the scriptures but also provide the vision to understand the reality of life.

experience and service becomes the inspiration for life. All of you are going to become the carriers of that tradition where the Acharya not only teaches but also presents an ideal through his life. This practice class paves you on the path of the same ideal.
